When workers know their work makes a difference, productivity rises and so does job satisfaction.

- Psychology Today, “Making A Difference at Work” July 22, 2004

What does it take to be an exceptional leader, to inspire a work group to greater commitment and productivity? It’s not charisma. Rather, it’s behavior that any well-intentioned leader can emulate, as demonstrated in the video program “Would I Inspire Me?” The video follows Tom, a competent manager, on his quest to find out what makes Elliot, an exceptional manager in his organization, so inspiring to his workers. First, Elliot believes in the importance of their work and communicates that, in words and actions, to his team. He also publicly acknowledges the contributions of each individual. He goes above and beyond the call of duty to support his team. And finally, he treats each person as an individual with interests and goals beyond the job description. When Tom asks if that works, Elliot responds, “If you’re sincere about it, yes.”

The “Would I Inspire Me?” video program gives viewers practical ways to make work life more meaningful, productive, and rewarding for themselves and their team.

THE VIDEO’S MESSAGE

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Before beginning your “Would I Inspire Me?” workshop, read through this guide. Take special note of the Preparing for the Workshop section. The Planning Considerations and Suggested Group Workshop sections will help you determine your workshop agenda.

Please note that you may present the graphic layouts, located at the end of this guide, on flip charts, overheads or computer video projection. These graphics are also included on the DVD version of this program in two formats: as a menu option that displays the graphics on your monitor, or as a PowerPoint document that can be copied onto a computer’s hard drive and displayed from there.

The Participant Handout Section and graphic layouts may be duplicated for use only in training sessions with the program.

Re: “Would I Inspire Me?”

Before I can hope to inspire anybody else, first I’ve got to inspire me.

- “Would I Inspire Me?” video

You are invited to attend a leadership workshop, entitled “Would I Inspire Me?” This thought provoking video and training session examine the leadership behaviors that can inspire a work group to greater productivity and job satisfaction. This workshop will cover four “inspiring” leadership practices:

- Communicate why work is important
- Acknowledge the contribution of every employee
- Support your team
- Create opportunities for growth

Please mark your calendar for (insert date, time and place) so you can attend this important training session.

Thank you!
“WOUL I INSPIRE ME?” WELCOME & DISCUSSION

Time Required: ● 30 minutes

Materials Needed: ● Graphic #1 (page 22)
● Graphic #2 (page 23)
● Worksheet #1: “Who Inspired Me?” (page 14)

Reveal Graphic #1:
“Would I Inspire Me?”

Welcome:
Introduce yourself and welcome participants. Ask participants to introduce themselves and describe their job responsibilities.

Read or Paraphrase:
This is a workshop about taking your leadership skills to the next level. The video we will be viewing, “Would I Inspire Me?” demonstrates how a competent leader progresses from managing people to inspiring them. The video offers four leadership practices, which anyone can use to motivate his or her employees to greater productivity and job satisfaction.

Reveal Graphic #2:

Leaders can and do inspire people to perform at a high level on a regular basis.
- Robin Fielder, Inspirational Leadership Management Course

Leaders who develop purposeful relationships are more likely to inspire greater productivity, innovation, and overall employee performance.
- “Grace at Work” TD March 2006

Hand Out Worksheet #1 and Explain:
“Inspire” can seem like a lofty word, but many of us have worked with someone - a manager, a teacher, a coach – who did inspire us. You are being asked on this worksheet to describe a person who inspired you and what he or she did to achieve that.

Small Group Discussion:
After allowing time for participants to complete Worksheet #1, have them get in groups of 3 or 4 to discuss their experiences and the characteristics their inspiring role models may have had in common.

Large Group Discussion:
Ask participants to share some of their experiences described on the worksheets and the characteristics of the people who inspired them.
“MEANINGFUL WORK” EXERCISE & DISCUSSION

Time Required: ● 20 minutes
Materials Needed: ● Graphic #3 (page 24)
                   ● Worksheet #2: “Meaningful Work” (page 15)

Reveal Graphic #3 and Discuss the Following Quotations:

When workers know their work makes a difference, productivity rises and so does job satisfaction.
- Psychology Today, “Making A Difference at Work” July 22, 2004

The generation entering the workplace today expects to have meaning in their jobs… What they really want is to know that what they do matters.
- Business Week, “The Art of Motivation” May 1, 2006

Hand Out Worksheet #2 and Explain:
One of the most important and often ignored aspects of leadership is to convey a sense of meaning or importance to the work being done. On this worksheet, you will be considering the connection between a sense of meaning and job productivity and satisfaction. You will also be asked to think about what a manager can do to improve productivity and satisfaction.

Large Group Discussion:
Ask participants to discuss Question #1, the experiences where they saw a connection between meaningful work and their own productivity and satisfaction. Encourage participants to respond to others’ experiences.

Discuss Question #2, what managers can do to increase productivity and satisfaction. You may wish to guide the discussion towards the video’s training points:

- Communicate why work is important
  ♦ Use real world examples
  ♦ Express genuine enthusiasm
- Acknowledge the contribution of every employee
  ♦ Look for reasons to praise people
  ♦ Convey accomplishments to both co-workers and superiors
- Support your team
  ♦ Pitch in as a team member
  ♦ Remove obstacles to success
- Create opportunities for growth
  ♦ Go beyond job descriptions
  ♦ Be aware of people’s goals
Time Required: 45 minutes: Video & Discussion

Materials Needed:
- Video – “Would I Inspire Me?”
- Graphic #4 (page 25)
- Graphic #5 (page 26)
- Worksheet #3: “Real World Experiences” (pp. 16-17)

Reveal Graphic #4:
…I would say that I managed people. I made sure they did the job they were hired to do. Elliot inspired people. And inspired people are more motivated and more productive.

- “Would I Inspire Me?” video

Video Presentation:
You may want to introduce the video by saying, “The video we will be watching, “Would I Inspire Me?” illustrates the difference between managing and inspiring. It demonstrates how certain leadership practices, carried out with sincerity, can inspire a work group to greater productivity and satisfaction.” Show the video.

Ask and Discuss: (Answers will vary)

Q: What was the difference between Tom’s encouragement of people (regarding the new e-forms) and Elliot’s?

A: Tom was basically cheerleading. Elliot was trying to show why this change in forms was important to the people they served. He was explaining why the work they did mattered.

Q: How did Tom show his appreciation to Joel for working late and doing a good job? How did this differ from Elliot’s acknowledgement of Victor’s extra work?

A: Tom said “good job” and gave Joel more work. Elliot congratulated Victor in front of the work group and then made sure the regional manager not only heard about Victor’s work, but thanked him in an email.

Q: What was Tom’s idea of “teamwork”? How did this contrast with Elliot’s expression of supporting his team?

A: Tom got jerseys for his group’s softball team. He also got them an employee of the month parking space. Elliot took the initiative to solve an office space problem for one of his employees and actually pitched in and helped her move.

Q: What did Tom do in response to Eva’s request to lead a meeting? What, in contrast, did Elliot do for Ryan’s concern about public speaking?

A: Tom gave Eva the job of setting a meeting agenda even though what she wanted was to conduct the meeting. Elliot gave Ryan the opportunity to make a public presentation and took the time to help him develop that skill. Tom was not considering what Eva wanted or her career; Elliot was challenging Ryan to expand his skills to advance Ryan’s career.

Q: When Tom asked Elliot how he managed to motivate people, what was Elliot’s response?

A: Basically, Elliot said that first he figured out what excited him about the job and then tried to convey that to his team in words and actions. He showed his appreciation for people and supported them in any way he could. He noted that doing all that with sincerity was what made it work.

Q: Towards the end of the video, Tom says, “…before I can hope to inspire anybody else, first I’ve got to inspire me.” Do you agree or disagree? Do you think that in order to inspire others, you have to be excited about the work yourself?

A: Answers will vary.

Reveal Graphic #5 – “Key Training Points”

Hand Out Worksheet #3 “Real World Experiences” and Explain:

This worksheet has the video’s training points for you to examine in real situations you have been involved in.

Small Group Discussion:

Organize participants in groups of 3 or 4. Have them discuss each of their answers on Worksheet #3.

Large Group Discussion:

Reassemble the large group and discuss the questions on the worksheet. Ask participants to share the responses from their groups.

You may conclude the discussion by asking if there are any further questions or comments related to the video.

Leaders can and do inspire people to perform at a high level on a regular basis.
- Robin Fielder, Inspirational Leadership Management Course

Instructions: Please answer the following 2 questions, which you will be discussing in a small group:

1. Describe a specific situation where someone – a manager, teacher, coach – inspired you to your best performance.

2. What specific attitudes or behaviors did the person described in answer #1 have that inspired you?
WORKSHEET #2: “MEANINGFUL WORK”

When workers know their work makes a difference, productivity rises and so does job satisfaction.

- Psychology Today, “Making A Difference at Work” July 22, 2004

“The generation entering the workplace today expects to have meaning in their jobs… What they really want is to know that what they do matters.”

- Business Week, “The Art of Motivation” May 1, 2006

Instructions: Considering the quotations above, please answer the following:

1. Describe a specific situation in which you experienced that connection between a sense of meaning in your work and your own productivity and job satisfaction.

2. In addition to conveying a sense of meaning or importance to the work, what else could a manager do to increase productivity and satisfaction for her team?
WORKSHEET #3: “REAL WORLD EXPERIENCES”

Instructions: Answer at least two of the following questions most relevant to your own experiences.

1. Describe a specific situation in which you or someone you worked for successfully conveyed the following point. What were the results?
   - Communicate why work is important
     - Use real world examples
     - Express genuine enthusiasm

2. Describe a specific situation in which you or someone you worked for consistently applied the practice listed below. What were the results?
   - Acknowledge the contribution of every employee
     - Look for reasons to praise people
